It used to be that only a slim man could wear ready-to-put-on clothes, and it is still true of some clothes that they bulk like a horse blanket and lie like a welch rarebit on the chest. We have them that don't. Case Clothes are hand-styled, shapely, with a slight flare to the lapels. Any man can wear them—slender or stout, short or tall—and good ones can be had.

LARGE POLITICAL DEMONSTRATION

Constitutionalists Campaign Cry Given

Yesterday afternoon in front of the Arts building a lively political open-air meeting was held, and the Constitutional party made a strong bid for support. The procession came out from behind the law building, led by a bass drum, and rolling a beer barrel with much ceremony. Once in front of the Arts building, the procession halted, and a speaker got up to address a handful of onlookers.

Soon, however, a crowd gathered and in a short time nearly two hundred students were attentive listeners. Four speakers in all expressed their views, and the Constitutional supporters encouraged them at times with loud "Rah! Rahs!" Toward the conclusion of the meeting a few ardent Progressives interrupted proceedings, but not to any great extent. The duration was but fifteen minutes, after which the gathering dispersed.

The banner of the Constitutionals bore the startling inscription: "Rational—National—Vote Constitutional." This gives a distinct clue as to the feelings of the party, and the speakers also gave other parts of the platform. The erection of a gymnasium was advocated forcibly; all that has been done in this line so far is to dig two holes in front of the Union, ruining a couple of tennis courts.

Bonar Law recently described Lloyd George's platform as a yawn—and the Progressive's is characterized by the Opposition as asleep. Whether or not the meeting was successful will be evident after tonight.

ERIC O. TAYLOR

The funeral of the late Eric Owen Taylor, Med. '24, will take place at St. John's Church, the corner of Church street and Ontario street west, on Friday morning at 10.30.

The Dean of the Faculty of Medicine has cancelled all lectures in Medicine in order that the student body may attend the service.

It is hoped, in view of the fact that all men will be free from lectures, that professors and students will attend the church service and interment to pay their respects to a man of sterling worth.

Permission is being sought from the military authorities to have a military funeral.

LAST GAME OF SEASON IN SYRACUSE

Held Last Drill Prior to Big Contest

TEAM LEAVES TODAY

Injury to "Dink" Carrol's Arm Prevents His Playing

The McGill football team leaves at 5 o'clock to-day for Syracuse, to engage the Orange eleven in the second annual gridiron contest between the two colleges. The squad put in a hard day's work at the Stadium yesterday afternoon in the last strenuous drill prior to the big contest on Saturday, scrimmaging against the second team for about two hours.

The men showed plenty of pep and the back field appears to be at top form. But what the line will be able to do against the heavy Syracuse aggregation is a question which is causing Coach Shaughnessy no end of care.

The McGill mentor has ben obliged to make some eleventh hour changes, due to the reappearance of the well known Mr. Jinx. The injury to "Dink" Carroll's arm received in the Queen's game in Kingston on Saturday leaves the McGill team without the services of a reliable punter. Carroll is one of the best booters in Canada, and it is doubtful if he has many peers in the country below the border. He rarely went through a game without getting off one or two 60-yard punts, and his average was always close to 45 for a game. With him out of the game, and Flanagan's ankle in doubtful shape, Shaughnessy is using Murphy, a newcomer, at fullback, to do the punting, and Flanagan has been shifted to left end. Murphy is a youngster, and is the lightest man on the team, tipping the scales at less than 140 pounds, but in Saturday's game he got off several good punts, and showed flashes of defensive ability.

"Eddie" Crain and "Bones" Little will fill the halfback positions, and should hold down their jobs in the approved fashion. "Don" Baillie, the veteran quarterback, will direct plays. "Don" has been showing great line plunging ability, and can be depended upon to make the odd yard or two in a pinch.

On the wings "Shag" is using Cyril Flanagan and Selby Cope. Flanagan, at halfback, has been the mainstay of the Red and White attack for three years, and this will be his final game. As a defensive man he has few superiors, and his speed should help him in getting down under punts. If his ankle holds out he may be counted on to give a brilliant performance. At right end is Selby Cope, who starred on the 1919 Championship team, but has been out of the game for several years. It is not

McGILL STUDENTS INVITED BY T.U.G.S.

Party Going from Here to See Game in Kingston

Much interest is being shown around McGill as to who will win the Varsity-Queens game at Kingston on Saturday. The possibility of a play-off between Varsity and Queens at the McGill Stadium should Varsity win Saturday's game is the principal cause of this wide interest. Both teams are putting on their strongest players, although Queens has had a line of bad luck through the illness of George Awrey, their coach. "Shag" Shaughnessy has been asked to go and coach them, but Shag will be too busy over the week-end because of McGill playing Syracuse in Syracuse, N.Y., on Saturday. The Toronto University Graduates' Society in Montreal is making up a party to go to Kingston to see the game and invites any McGill men who may wish to go to hand in their names to Branchley or Fraser at the Union. The reduction of the fare to one and a half instead of a full two-way fare should be noted. Toronto University in Toronto has 600 seats for the game. There is good chance that Toronto will send about 50 tickets to be disposed of in Montreal. The Toronto University Graduates' Society have already 35 seats, but McGill men will have to give way to Toronto men in the city first. This gives McGill rugby fans an opportunity to see what probably will be the most exciting game of the Intercollegiate rugby championship. A close game is assured as there is a great deal at stake,

PRINCIPAL WILL CONFER LL.D. DEGREE

Admiral Sims Will Be Honoured Tomorrow

AT R. V. C.

Lectures Suspended at Four O'Clock Friday P.M.

McGill is to be especially honoured at tomorrow's Convocation when the degree of LL.D. will be conferred upon Admiral Sims, late of the U.S. Navy. This is the second special occasion of degree conferring this fall and from present indications it will be a remarkable event in the history of McGill. Lectures are to be cancelled at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon in all faculties in an endeavour to enable all students to be present at the Convocation Hall of the Royal Victoria College when the ceremonies will take place. Class presidents and various organization heads about college have been urged to do all in their power to bring about a representative attendance from the student body. Those undergraduates who attend will assume an active portion of the programme when they will be asked to join in the singing. The Glee Club will have charge of this and its efforts will be supplemented by the assistance of the Mandolin Club.

Admiral Sims is one of the many notables granted a degree by McGill in absentia, and will be one of a number who have come at different times to reclaim their honours. Owing to the demands made upon him during the war as Admiral of the United States Navy, Admiral Sims was incapable of being present until tomorrow. Sir Arthur Currie, as Principal of the University, will take over official control of the affair, while the Faculty will be well represented.

An Englishman walked into a Berlin bank, laid down a sovereign and said, "How many marks can I get for this?"

"Hi, there," cried the manager, addressing his staff, "clear out the lot of you. This gentleman's bought the bank."

'23 (writing a "sup")—What is the date, please?

Prof.—Never mind the date, the exam. is more important.

'22—Well, sir, I wanted to have something right.

Rastus, were you raised in the South?

Yas'm, but the rope broke.

CLASS PRESIDENTS

Every class president must without fail be on hand at the McGill Union, in the Music Room, at 1 p.m. (sharp) today for a short but very urgent meeting. If any president is not able to attend it is essential that he send a substitute in his place. This meeting is called by the Students' Council and is most important.

SUCCESS OF PARLIAMENT IS ASSURED

Both Parties Are Actively Campaigning

DEMONSTRATE TODAY

Special Ladies' Gallery Set Aside

The stage is set for the greatest political meeting in the history of old McGill, when Parliament re-assembles tonight. The interest manifested in the meeting is exceptional and a record turnout is assured. The women particularly are invited to witness the opening session from the ladies' gallery. The Progressives, who are in power at present under R. K. Jones, will attempt to retain their majority in the House, while the Constitutionalists will try to gain the popular support of their new platform. It is very hard to prophesy what the result of the session will be, but it is unlikely that there will be anything so startling as a political landslide, for both parties have sage proposals to make, and both policies will find a fairly evenly divided following.

Both parties are very active just at this time, and are eagerly claiming supporters. Particularly noticeable are the soap-box methods being used now on certain parts of the campus.

A few words in regard to the respective merits of the two platforms might be of interest to undecided electors. The "fourteen points" of the Progressives, which were mentioned yesterday are very comprehensive, but rather too rambling. Many of these points will never be brought forward, such as point 9, regarding the increase of the navy personnel. The Constitutional policy, however, is carefully compiled, and presents a very strong plea for fame. Following the address from the Throne by Sir Arthur Currie, and the debate on it, the main bill for the evening will be one to increase the permanent force of Canada from the present 2,500 to approximately 10,000. Nothing is more important than the physical well-being of the citizens of Canada and this most effectively can be achieved through the agency of an efficient military force. Canada, too, cannot lightly dismiss the thought of war and cannot afford to feel too secure; she must be prepared. Every man must be a man and ready at any moment to play the role of a citizen.

In the Cabinet which is given below, there are several important changes which will be noted with interest by all:

Prime Minister and President of the Council—Rt. Hon. R. K. Jones.

ARTS '26 SELECT MEN FOR DEBATES

Shephard and Newman Are Representatives

Shepherd and Newman, of Arts '26, have been selected to represent their year in the forthcoming interclass debating tournament. For the purpose of choosing these men, two elimination debates were held yesterday afternoon.

Peculiarly enough, in both debates, the negative won.

In the first encounter Tennault and White upheld the affirmative of the resolution, "That it is injurious to the welfare of the home that women enter into business competition with men," while Newman and Wolfson spoke successfully on the negative side.

Novick and Copple were unable to prove that "Capital punishment was necessary to uphold moral law," and the negative, under Shepherd and Monroe, was again returned to victory.

In rendering the judges' decision, Professor Latham deviated from the usual form by giving his decision first, and making his criticisms and stating his reasons afterwards. On account of the lateness of the hour, Professor Latham did not go into close detail, but remarked that the decisions were given to the negative in both cases, on the marked deficiencies of the affirmative rather than on any outstanding qualities of the negative.

In accordance with the request that the judges choose two men to represent the class, Mr Lathan chose Shepherd and Newman.

H. P. Teakle, president of the class, occupied the chair, and thanked Messrs. Latham and Noad for their kindness in acting as judges.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S MANIFESTO.

The Progressive Government offers a sane and certain development of the country. Its policy combines a judicious mixture of conservatism with the most advanced liberalism. Its creed is the creed of Canadians, of those who love liberty and justice, who love their homes and their country, who love prosperity and think altruistically of posterity. Students will support the government, for in it lie immediate relief and encouragement. The government promises most radical changes for the better in the University student's life. The government is prepared in every way to recognize the primary importance of the student. The government can and will save the country and build it into a strong and great nation.

But the government is not selfishly interested. When any party puts forth a better and more advantageous policy, the Progressives will willingly resign, for the good of the country. Thus far none has done so. The policy of the so-called Constitutional Party is an incredible and lamentable disappointment.

The government is for the country, the student, the people. It means prosperity and progressive development. It means the fulfilment of Canada's destiny. Support the Progressives and stand by the party which represents, not class, not race, not creed, but our beloved country.

THE OPPOSITION.

The Constitutional Party has little need for propaganda. It rests secure in the knowledge that the electorate will judge on merit. Nevertheless it feels somewhat handicapped by being unable to resort to the despicable means employed by the Progressive Party in waging their campaign against the people.

REWARD!

A reward of 10,000,000,000 roubles, ($1.46 Canadian currency), is offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who on Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning stole a poster from the board at the entrance of the University grounds. The poster carried the slogan "Rational! Rational! Vote Constitutional!

COMMERCE '23 WINS MATCH BY DEFAULT

The scheduled indoor baseball game that was to have taken place at the high school gym yesterday afternoon between Comm. '23 and Law '25 at 6 o'clock did not take place owing to the non-appearance of the Law players, the game going to Comm. '23 by default.

This apparent lack of interest brings up the old question of whether the students are taking an active interest in college affairs. Certainly there is no excuse for a team not turning out to play at a scheduled match. No game should be won in this way. It shows a lax spirit that is not wanted in college life. So far most of the teams have been turning out, but there is no reason why they all should not do so. Indoor baseball is a very fascinating game and a great deal of interesting and beneficial exercise may be derived from it.

Comm. '23 having no one to play, and not liking the idea of having turned out for nothing, picked sides and held a snappy practice. They have a team which would have undoubtedly made a good showing had their opponents turned out.

MONTREAL, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1922

"THE EDINBURGH OF AMERICA"

There have been occasions when McGill has been referred to as "the Edinburgh of America." That McGill has done something at some time to deserve such an appellation, is proved by the mere origin of the title; that we, as students of McGill, are putting ourselves to any effort to justify the continued application of the phrase, is a statement that is open to grave doubt. Edinburgh has always been noted for the interest taken by its undergraduates in matters pertaining to literature, and by the active part played by the university authorities and by the college organizations in fostering literary endeavour and its kindred activity—debating. Tonight McGill will be afforded the opportunity of establishing what right she may have to the cognomen of "The Edinburgh of America." The Mock Parliament meets at eight-fifteen in the Union and at this, the inaugural session of the year, ample scope for speech will be given to any undergraduate who may desire to express his sentiments upon any of the subjects under discussion. The attendance at this gathering, the proportion who assume an active part in its proceedings and force, clarity and substance of the arguments advanced will largely determine for those present as on-lookers, the validity of the designation mentioned above, so frequently associated with McGill in various sections of the country.

From appearances the Lit. is to resume its prominent position among campus activities; the idea that it is an association for the benefit of students in Arts and Law is fast disappearing, and those registered in other faculties are coming to the realization that an education is not really complete unless a man be able to give voice to his thoughts in an intelligible and coherent manner. Many outsiders will be in the audience; the Principal will be taking an active role as the Governor-General. A good attendanee will be a courtesy to both.

ADMIRAL SIMS

McGill is favoured indeed by the visit this Friday of Admiral Sims. Perhaps no other man in the United States awakened such interest and admiration in Canada during the war, due to his sympathetic attitude toward what Canadians believed to be a world necessity.

Admiral Sims comes here to receive from McGill an honorary degree conferred upon him in absentia when he was actively engaged in naval work. The Convocation ceremony arranged for Friday will be one of the most striking McGill ever has witnessed. The Mandolin Club is providing the stirring marches and national music appropriate for the visit of such a sailor. All undergraduates are cordially invited to attend this ceremony, which will be of such interest in a university and an international way. In loyalty to his college and as a tribute to this most loyal visitor, every student can be relied upon to be present at the Convocation.

THE RUGBY TEAM

The Senior Rugby Squad leaves Windsor Street Station at five o'clock this afternoon for their last trip of the season, and for their first game on American soil for many years. Owing to the unfamiliarity of most of the students with Syracuse it is not likely that many of them will make the journey to that city. However, it is to be hoped that there will be a strong representation at the train to aid in giving the team a good send-off. Arrangements ought to have been decided upon beforehand by the rooter leaders so as to induce the undergraduates to be present in the largest numbers possible. McGill is apt to be too conservative in such matters; while the University is, as we all know, "behind the team", it is well to manifest this support in a substantial demonstration when opportunity opens to them. Consequently such a chance as affords today of cheering the Rugby Team, and of awakening a bit of college spirit with a lively demonstration, should not be missed.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir.—The letter, harshly critical of my report of last Wednesday's rugby game at St. Anne's, which appeared in yesterday's Daily, would have been let by by me unchallenged, were it not for the fact that embodied in it was a serious charge—that of misrepresentation of fact. As an outburst of spleen at having lost a game I considered the letter unworthy of notice, but as an accusation against me of telling deliberate lies, I thought it right to offer some explanation of the state of affairs.

To deal with letter in detail: "The breaks were entirely with McGill"; this is undoubtedly true, and because of its truth it is one of the sentences which appeared in the report in question. "McGill went through Mac's line like water through a sieve", with the exception of the first five minutes of play when the Green and Gold received due recognition for making their yards in one down, this was exactly the case.

The fact that McGill chose to kick when at two yards from touch is no more inexplicable than that Macdonald could not score and gave up the ball to McGill when within a few feet of the line.

The statement "that 90 per cent of McGill's plays were end runs will bear looking into" is true. It certainly will bear looking into, and will bear looking into by the most critical of experts, whose decision would bring to light the fact that nothing but the truth was reported.

The closing paragraph of the letter, in taking exception to the use of the word "whitewash" and in making the odious comparison between the 'Varsity-McGill game and that of last Wednesday, takes the palm. The defeat at the Stadium was perhaps a worse one than the Aggies suffered, but with its score of 52-5 it was not a white wash, whereas last Wednesday's score of 28-0 was a whitewash in the commonly accepted sense of the word.

Trusting that my honour and integrity have been vindicated in the eyes of "The Campus," I am, sir,

Yours truly,
THEODORE H. HARRIS.

SEASON WAS INAUGURATED BY PLAYERS

Election of New Officers Took Place

MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Discussion Held Regarding Time of Meetings

Another organization began the season yesterday afternoon, when the Players' Club held its business meeting in Strathcona Hall. There was a fair turnout of former members and new enthusiasts, all of whom displayed much interest in the welfare of the Club.

"Bob" Hall, last year's president, took the chair, until the elections got under way. He first called on Miss Alice Roy, the secretary, to read the minutes of the last meeting, which were unanimously adopted. The treasurer's report, given by MacIntyre, showed a balance of over $50 in the bank. This reflects great credit on the ability of last year's officers, as the season started with a deficit.

The meeting then proceeded to elect J. A. Taylor as president for the present session. Hall, in retiring, expressed his thanks at the support he had received, while the members moved a vote of thanks for his untiring efforts. Taylor then took the chair, and told the members how pleased he was at the honor bestowed on him. Nominations for the other offices were called for at once, and the following were elected:—

Hon. Presidents—Dr. P. Lafleur and Dr. C. MacMillan.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—Mr. B. K. Sandwell and Miss E. Hurlbatt.
President—J. A. Taylor.
Vice-Presidents—Miss A. Sharples and B. M. Wilson.
Secretary—Miss M. M. Grigg.
Treasurer—MacIntyre.

The Constitution was read by Miss Roy; some of the important points are: (1). That the membership shall not exceed one hundred. (2). That all undergraduates, graduates and partials interested may become members, but, (3), that only students in the English department may become officers. (4). That the membership fee shall be $1. It was moved and seconded that, considering the favorable balance this year, only new members should be asked to pay the fee. It was also decided that the election of the executive of ten members should be left until their duties become more apparent.

The question was brought up as to whether general meetings should be held in the afternoon or in the evening. The special speakers who address the club usually can come only in the afternoon, so for this reason the meeting resolved that general meetings be held in the evening, but that any special meetings be called for the afternoon.

The president gave his opinion on the subject of having a play. He urged that any play should be chosen long ahead of time, and that the cast be decided upon at least a month before the play is to be given. Following this the treasurer asked that two auditors be appointed to go over the books, so Willard and Bullock were unanimously elected.

No further business was on hand, so the meeting closed.

As we understand it, a vicious circle is the kind you draw without a compass.

I wonder does a mermaid kneel
Each nite in fear and dread,
Go see if there's a bur-gu-lar
Beneath her oyster bed?

PHOTOGRAPHS MUST BE IN NOVEMBER 20

Work on Annual Well Under Way

COOPERATION NEEDED

Thursday Allotted to R.V.C. Jrs. and Balance of Comm.

The 1924 Annual is now fairly well under way, and already a considerable number of photographs have been taken, principally those of the Faculty of Commerce. As all photographs positively must be in by November 20 it is essential that all Juniors get in touch with their class representative immediately to make the necessary arrangements. Thursday has been specially reserved for the Junior Year of R.V.C., Arts, and the balance of Commerce. Friday has been scheduled for Law and the remainder of Arts Juniors. Saturday morning and afternoon has not been allotted and any Junior who can possibly attend on that day is urged to do so. Medicine, Science and Dentistry will be allotted in the next issue of the Daily. The absolute co-operation of all Juniors is a vital necessity for the success of the Annual. It is the book of the Junior year and as such it devolves upon each each Junior to endeavour to do his utmost to make it a success.

A subscription campaign is being planned now and all students will be carefully canvassed during the course of the coming week. The usual method of signing away a portion of the caution money will be adhered to this year and no actual money will be collected. Students of all years who wish a copy of this year's Annual must subscribe now as it is the intention of the executive to publish no more books than are actually subscribed for—the larger the circulation the better the book.

The Annual Board has decided to undertake the advertising itself and already contracts amounting to a considerable sum have been obtained. This is being done by the various members of the board without charge, contrary to the usual custom of letting this important phase of the Annual out to paid men. A considerable sum, about 20 per cent of the total advertising, will be saved in this way.

Class executives are especially requested to get in touch with their faculty representatives and arrange to have the class pictures taken immediately. A charge of five dollars a picture is being made for groups of under sixty members and over that number seven dollars will be charged. This amount must be paid to the photographer before the picture is taken. Class executives are reminded that unless the class pictures are taken by November 20 they will lose the privilege of appearing in the Annual,

A radical departure from previous years has been made this year. Formerly all pictures of various executives clubs, societies and fraternities were put into the Annual and charged at only the actual cost of the photographs but this year following the usual practice of other Canadian and American university publications a certain charge designed to cover the cost of the photography and the engraving will be assigned to each picture. It is hoped by this means to put the book on a firmer financial basis. In past years the Junior year has had to pay practically the whole cost of the book, while the other students paid less than publication cost. As the Annual is not a Junior book alone but also a record as complete as possible of all the the events throughout the various years of the entire University, it is felt that this will be a more satisfactory method of handling the vexed financial situation which confronts the Board. The matter of financing a book of the character of the McGill Annual is a very important problem and unless something of the above nature is done it would mean that the book would run into considerable debt.

All Juniors are reminded that the fee of $1.50 charged for their photographs is payable to the photographer at the time of the taking of the picture. This includes a print for the Annual and one copy of Notman's $15 finish for the Junior personally. Notman's are making a special reduction on their $15 finish to all those who may wish to obtain extra copies at $8 per dozen and $4.50 per half-dozen. This is an excellent opportunity for all those desiring to secure extra pictures. A sample is on view on the notice board of the Union,

Informal Talks Given by Members of Class

NOVEL METHOD

Boyes and Killoway to Represent Arts '24

In a novel and rather interesting way, Arts '24 yesterday afternoon, chose Boyes and Killoway to represent them in the inter-class debating tournament, which commences in the near future.

The men of the class were asked to give short informal talks on subjects of their own choice.

Of those who spoke, Boyes, Killoway and Stone chose personal narratives as their topic. Cohen spoke on the Doctrine of Sovereignty, Wilson on the Value of Inter-Class Debates, Silverstone on History and Brownstein on Advertising.

Boyes gave an interesting account of an adventure he had on first trying to drive a "motor engine." How he was rescued by a friend after spending practically all of the bitter cold night trying to get his engine to move, made an interesting story.

Speaking in a way that would do justice to a man of many years' experience, Killoway painted the picture of a dream he had while on the firing line, that almost moved the listeners to tears.

Stone spoke of an attempt of some of his friends and himself to kill a moose with one pistol shot, and described the feelings of the men as they sat around the camp fire eating pork and beans instead of the venison they had expected.

Cohen, speaking on the doctrine of sovereignty, proved to the audience that it was absolutely necessary to the welfare of mankind that there be some person or persons in authority over a country in whose power it was to enact laws for that country.

Wilson pointed out that at some time during a man's life he was sure to be called upon to make a speech. The inter-class debates at college, he continued, provided a man with the means of becoming confident in public speaking.

Silverstone's brief talk was effective in showing the importance of history, while Brownstein traced the History of Advertising from the time of the Hebrews through the Greeks and Romans down to the present day. Until 1860 newspapers considered it debasing to carry advertisements, whereas, it is estimated that at least 20 billion dollars would be spent next year in this method of creating a market.

The judges were Messrs. Davis, Teakle and Read. Davis preceded his decision by pointing out that the keeping of hands in the pockets and looknig at the ceiling were among the speakers' most outstanding faults,

In choosing the men no attention was paid to the subject matter, but merely to the style and force of the speaker.

The men chosen to represent the class have pleasing and forceful deliveries, and Arts '24 is in a strong position to bid for the championship of the Inter-Class Debating League.

A COLLEGE COURSE IN HONESTY

A course on truth telling is to be added this year to the curriculum of the University of Pennsylvania. The Associated Advertising Clubs are backing the new course and preparing, through their National Vigilance Committee, a series of lectures and a course of instruction for the students, while with the National Surety Committee they are launching a movement to engage the co-operation of school boys, teachers and public welfare institutes of every description throughout the United States to teach common honesty. These two organizations realize that millions of dollars could be saved to the people of the country if truth telling in advertising, in stock promotion, and in manufacturing and retail business, were more general. The new course is part of a campaign to this end. Dr. William Byron Forbush, author of "The Boy Problem," has been employed as a practical instructor and it will be his duty to enlist every possible agency in a program of instruction on common honesty.

WATER POLO TEAM LOSES TO M.A.A.A.

Game Played in Peel Street Tank

INTERMEDIATES

Players on Both Sides Worked Hard to Win

In a hard-fought game of water polo last night at the Peel street tank McGill Intermediates lost to the Winged Wheelers by a score of 3 to 1. F. Black of the M.A.A.A. defence proved a dangerous man on the opposing team; he is a strong, consistent player and scored two of the three points won by his team Moore, one of the forwards of the Red and White sextette, slipped a swift shot past the M.A.A.A. goalie in the second period; repeated bombardments failed to gain another point during the game. The M.A.A.A. hurled the rubber at the McGill goal repeatedly, shooting many times more than McGill, but their shots in the majority of cases were not well placed. Jardine, in goal for McGill, prevented the score from mounting by consistent work at his position, and not showing the least excitement at critical times in the game. Bethel, although not equalling his fellow players in weight, slipped around the man he was covering like an eel. He is a new man on the Intermediates but shows promise of a good player. Rogers of the M.A.A.A. in company with Black proved a difficult defence to get through, relieving their goalie many times of the necessity of stopping a shot. Forsythe, on the Red and White defence, made good use of his superior strength against the man he covered.

After the whistle blew at the beginning of the first period, the M.A.A.A. centre man reached the ball first, passing it to one of his men behind. M.A.A.A. men swarmed up to McGill goal with the ball, but Forsythe prevented a score. A series of passes and shots ensued and Black of the M.A.A.A. slipped the rubber into the McGill goal. Black tried three more shots in rapid succession but Jardine by superior work in goal saved each time.

At quarter time McGill changed to the shallow end of the tank. M.A.A.A. got the ball, passed, and shot. Jardine again saved. Moore of McGill secured the rubber twice, shooting both times, but failed to get it in the nets. Winter of the M.A.A.A. attempted to get past Jardine three successive times but his shots were not well placed. Just before half-time Moore of McGill secured the ball, out-swam Rae and with a swift shot got the first and only goal for McGill.

In the third quarter McGill had the disadvantage of being again in deep water. Within the first minute of play Winter of the M.A.A.A. scored. There followed a series of passes, the opposing teams securing the ball alternately, then Black for the second time fooled the McGill goalie, making the count 3 to 1 against the Red and White. In the last period Forsythe and Bethel had several wrestling matches with the men whom they were covering. Forsythe usually emerged from the fray with a strangle hold on the rubber. Kyle also showed aptness at the sport during this period. The last quarter ended scoreless, The line-up:

M.A.A.A.		McGill
	Goals
McCormick		Jardine
	Defence
Rogers		Forsythe
Black		Bethel
	Forwards
Charlton		Vickerson
Rae		Kyle
Winter		Moore

IMPORTANT MEETING OF McGILL A.A.

Decided to Support Ruling Barring Freshmen

LENGTHY DISCUSSIONS

Invitation by Quebec City Club Dealt With

There was a meeting of the McGill Athletic Association yesterday at 5 o'clock in the Union. President Don Foss was unable to attend, owing to having turned out for the last Senior Rugby workout, preparatory to the Syracuse-McGill game. Vice-President Brewer took the chair and the meeting was called to order. Secretary Fraser read the minutes of the last meeting, which were adopted as read on a motion by A. O. Leslie. The chairman then asked Dr. Lamb to bring up for discussion the principal points which the meeting was especially called to decide. Several questions were brought to the meeting's attention, discussed, and resolutions passed on them. It has been decided that McGill shall continue to favor the ineligibility of freshmen to compete on Intercollegiate teams. This question was talked over lengthily and it was only after some time that the opposition gave in and the deadlock was broken.

The old method of having separate eligibility forms for each sport was then brought up. The point principally discussed was the facility of misplacing any one of the several forms, and thereby causing inconvenience in the whole affair. The suggestion of only one eligibility form covering all branches of athletics was adopted.

The application of Stacy and Henry, both of Medicine, to play indoor baseball on the Royal Montreal Regiment team in the Military League was next considered. After a short discussion the application was favored.

The last item brought up before the meeting was an invitation from the Quebec Athletic and Swimming Club to the McGill Junior Rugby team to play a match in Quebec City on Saturday. The decision rendered was favorable, being made on the remark that McGill should encourage teams from down Quebec way to compete with her, and in that way create an interest in McGill activities and athletics in the old Capital.

BASKETBALL TO START NEXT SEASON

First Game of Inter-Class Series Monday

The following regulations, regarding entries for the Inter-Class Basketball Series, have been draw nup. Games start next week, and the schedule will be published in the "Daily" at a later date.

All entries for the Inter-Class Basketball Series must be in the hands of the executive before six o'clock Friday, Nov. 10th.

The name of the class representative and that of a nominee to the board of referees must accompany the entry.

Entries should be given to Crain or Eadie or left on the notice board of the Union.

Games will be commence on Monday next, and will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, between the hours of 5 and 8 o'clock. Any team unable to play during any of these hours must note the same on their entry.

An application for a practice hour will not be treated as an entry.

On account of the large number of teams entering this year, it has been found impossible to carry out the original plan of giving each class a separate hour for practice.

known how good his condition is, but it is expected that he will make a strong come back.

Captain Ambridge will turn in his last performance at left tackle, and Manson, the lanky blonde, will fill the same position on the other side of the line. Gamble will play alongside Ambridge and Woodruff, of last year's Yale Freshman team, will be found at right guard. Douglas McGregor will snap the ball into play from centre.

Most of the work in preparation for the big international battle has been confined to the defensive side of the game. The team will, of course, be handicapped by playing under a strange set of rules, clipping interference being altogether new to them. The McGill team, however, has built up a strong defence against the forward pass, and the Syracuse aerial attack will have to be well primed if the home team expect to gain much ground on this play. On the other hand, Little, Crain and Baillie are hurling the spiral with deadly accuracy, Flanagan and Cope being excellent on the receiving end.

The team is backed by a competent outfit of substitutes, and though the home team is favored to win, they may look forward to a merry battle.

The team will work out at 1.30 today.

R.V.C. LIBRARY RESERVE SHELF

Reference Books for English and History Departments

Owing to the fact that a new Reserve Shelf has been placed in the R. V. C. Library, many more books are now obtainable in this library for the use of R. V. C. students than formerly. Some of the books on these shelves have been borrowed from the Redpath Library, in the hope that students may find them convenient, and that this will obviate the necessity, especially in the case of students of the first and second years, of going to the Redpath for all the books they require. This refers especially to readings in the departments of English and History. The books from these helves must in no case be removed from the Library; and lists will be placed on each shelf, indicating the course and the books on the shelf in connection with that course.

A book will be placed on the top of the catalogue in the library, so that students may enter in it which volumes are recommended by the department in the various courses, and which they would like to have placed upon the shelves. It is hoped that students will avail themselves of this privilege as much as possible.

A member of the Library Committee will be in charge each week, and all complaints concerning books lost or removed by mistake should be laid before that member. A list of the members and the week in which each one is in charge will be placed on the notice board in the library.

The World Is Working for You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier, and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you. Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise aynthing that is not good.

Reading advertisements is both interesting and profitable.

SCIENCE AGAIN!

Two undergrads we know,
At nights to astronomy go;
When the stars they peruse,
They a flashlight use;
How sad to be moon-struck so!

THE PLATO STUNT.

"Ho hum! I can see right now this hour is going to be an awful bore . .

"That fellow over in the corner is acting rather funny. He'll bear watching.

"This girl writing so fast probably thinks I'll give her a good grade if she writes a lot. Old stuff. . .

"Ho hum! I'll bet half this class flunks. . . .

"Wonder if my collars came back from the laundry? . . . Mustn't forget to take home that liver for dinner. . . .

"There goes the bell. Well, that's over with, anyway."

She—(Breaking away) "And when are you going to give me a ring?"

He—"Oh! If you'll be home I'll call you up to-night."

FAMOUS SAYINGS.

"Holy Smoke," said the altar boy as he dropped the incense pot.

"Lovely day, don't you think?" said the man as he hit his thumb with the hammer.

Uncle Dudley says, "Boys, I'm like the toad, I'm at home at every hop."

"I'll be dammed," said the brook as the tree fell across it.

"I'm fast!" said the fair young thing as her frock caught on a hook.

"Stewed at last!" said the prohibition oyster as the cook dropped him into the pot.

When a man says he runs things around the house he usually means the washing machine and the lawn mower.

Who ever named it "near beer" was a mighty poor judge of distance.

"Step on it chauffer!" said the old lady as the beetle ran out from under the seat.

A hair-net is a mighty flimsy article, but many a poor fish gets caught in one.

AMERICAN CLUB TO MEET ON FRIDAY IN THE UNION

On Thursday last the American Club held the first meeting for this year in the McGill Union. Owing to the graduation of Dr. Livshin last year the club was without a president. Last year's vice-president took the chair and the meeting was called to order. The election of officers for the coming year was the first thing brought up. The vice-president of last year's club was elected president for the coming year. Lewis of Medicine was elected vice-president and R. M. Hamilton secretary. As the club does not wish to leave the secretary-treasurer as one job, a treasurer was elected also. The next discussion was about an honorary president. Dr. Lynd's name was suggested and was received with hearty approval. He was elected honorary president unanimously. It was next decided to ask Dean Laing and other notable men to give the pleasure of their company when the good old cranberry sauce and turkey is served. Immediately the need of plans for entertaining the guests presented itself and Knowlton of Medicine was appointed to arrange for the affairs. He named a man from each faculty to help him.

Tomorrow night at 7.30 the club will again convene in the Union Cafeteria. The business of the evening is expected to be the hearing of reports from the various committees and the decision as to where the annual Thanksgiving banquet will be held. So far the Queen's hotel has been under a good deal of discussion. Other business regarding Thanksgiving may come up and when all has been settled refreshments will be served.

All Americans at McGill who are able to attend are urged to do so. There will be a hearty welcome extended to them and the meeting will be one all will be sure to enjoy.

A certain young lady received a telephone call the other day.

"Will you marry me?" asked the masculine voice at the other end of the wire.

"Yes," she replied, "Who is this speaking?"

Isn't it strange that the biggest fools always have the prettiest girls?
